Bland to Teach, Not Coach; HTHS Tax Rate Meeting Tonight

VISIT: Timmo went out to the high school yesterday and talked with genial Gene Bland, who had some tough luck last January.

The affable Mr. Bland, head basketball coach, was stricken during a game and since then has spent most of the time recuperating.

He had just got back from St. Louis, where he visited and was examined by a specialist.

"The specialist there confirmed the diagnosis made here in Harrisburg that it was a coronary occlusion," he told me. "I apparently am getting along all right but I must do everything moderately. I can't exert myself, must not get untidy, exercise and must watch my diet."

Gene went back to teaching, a couple of weeks ago but is not taking any part in the spring sports program.

In fact, he does not plan to do any coaching next year. His plans are to teach, but not coach.

Gene is looking well, has his weight at a normal 186, and is hoping that he can keep his weight around that figure.

While we're out at the high school, we might as well remind you here, as well as in the news columns, that there's an important meeting out there tonight. The school's drastic need of more funds and the necessity of an increased rate will be explained. And I know that if we want to continue to have a good school, the rate hike must be voted.

Here is something in the city schools bulletin about the rate hike election April 20:

"As elementary teachers we should all be deeply concerned with the problems of the Harrisburg Township high school. The welfare of that school is for us a professional obligation. Most pupils in the elementary and junior high schools will be dependent upon the local high school for their secondary schooling. What the local high school can do for them, in terms of variety of offerings and quality of educational practice, will be determined in large measure in the financial support afforded that school by this community.

"For the third time the Township High School board is presenting to the people a proposition to raise the tax rate. The date of the election on this proposition is Friday, April 20, 1956. Through our schools and our PTA groups we should give effective support to this proposition."

Crippled B47 Salvages Load of Practice Bombs

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A crippled Air Force B47 salvaged a load of photoflash practice bombs off the Florida coast Wednesday night, the Air Force said today, thus clearing up the mystery of a flash and explosion which rocked a 70-mile stretch of the Gulf Coast.

Shoreline residents flooded radio stations and newspapers with calls about the mystery blast for several hours after it occurred. Some asked whether the shattering sound was an earthquake, a space ship or "just what was that?"

Officials at MacDill Air Force Base, after hours of checking and investigation, issued a statement at mid-morning which said a B47 from Lockbourne Air Force Base Park, Fla., bomb range Wednesday night when it suffered an "equipment malfunction."

"The pilot asked for instructions or where to release the photoflash bombs he was carrying," a spokesman said.

"The salvo area to which he was instructed to release his bombs was an area approximately 10 miles off the Gulf Coast near the general area of the reported explosions."

The Air Force said normally pilots release such bombs 25 to 30 miles off the coast. The bombs have a loud report and their flash can be seen for approximately 100 miles.

Photoflash bombs contain illuminative material and a very small amount of explosive charge, the Air Force said. They are used in practice bombing missions.

Convict Freed After Serving 16 Years for Crime He Did Not Commit

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Roy E. Eaton, a man jailed almost 16 years for a crime he never committed, hurried from Illinois today to build a new life for himself.

Eaton, 52, had never given up his battle to get out of Illinois' Stateville Penitentiary. He won the battle Wednesday in the same Rock Island court where he was given a one year to life sentence for robbery, on June 28, 1940.

State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran, who became a leader in the fight to free Eaton, asked that the writ of error be granted admitting the state of Illinois was wrong.

Was Miles Away
Eaton was 1,700 miles from Rock Island when the robbery was committed, Moran said. And one of the men who actually pulled the robbery was confessed.

The end came just as Eaton wanted it. He could have won freedom on a parole or even a pardon as far back as 1954. But he wanted an absolutely clean record and he got it.

The mild, spectacle-wearing ex-convict tearfully thanked Moran and his own attorney, Robert Gor-

Six Firemen Killed as Burning Wall Collapses

NEW YORK (AP)—The brick front wall of a burning one-story building collapsed on a squad of firemen Wednesday night, killing six of them and injuring six others.

Five of the firemen died instantly in the roaring mass of rubble and the sixth casualty died shortly after he was taken to a hospital. Two of the injured suffered broken bones and the others sustained cuts, bruises and shock.

It was the worst toll of firemen taken in a New York fire since 1932, when eight firemen were killed.

Several score more firemen narrowly escaped injury Wednesday night by scrambling to safety when the cry went up that the wall was falling.

Fireman Joseph O'Keefe, 29, who was on a ladder with two of the men who were killed said "I heard a cry, 'Watch out, watch out, it's going in!' I had no chance to do anything. The next thing I knew, I was going down."

O'Keefe said "I was lucky. I rolled when I hit but it happened so quickly the other men never had a chance."

The fire was in a former theater building, now used for the manufacture of artificial flowers. The intense heat of burning chemicals apparently melted the thin supports of a heavy marquee on the front of the building causing it to collapse, Fire Commissioner Edward Cavanagh said.

The falling marquee tore loose a large section of the front wall which collapsed, smashing ladders and equipment, and carrying the screaming victims with it.

Catches Flying Guinea with Auto

A bird in the sedan is worth two in the bush.

Mrs. Arnold Stafford of Harrisburg Route 2 topped a hill near East Leford school yesterday and a flock of guinea fowl flew up.

She went on home and last night her son, Sammy, took the car out on a date.

This morning she noticed her dogs smelling around the car and upon investigating saw that one of the guineas had flown beneath the hood and had stayed there even during the evening when Sammy had the car. Sammy said he had noticed nothing unusual.

Mrs. Musgrave To Tour Europe

Mrs. J. A. (Mary) Musgrave, 207 East Dayton street, conductor of the Baptist Hour on radio station WEBQ, newspaper feature writer and Sunday school teacher, will tour Europe during the coming summer. She and a cousin, Miss Elsie Clananah, Belleville, will sail July 11 on the Italia and will return in September. They will return via air transport.

They will visit Holland, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Spain and the Islands of Great Britain.

On the birthday of Mrs. Musgrave, which is in October, she will be on the Island of Capri.

While her tour is in no way church connected, Mrs. Musgrave will, of course, be interested in seeing Europe's beautiful church buildings of various denominations.

Humane Society Tag Day Saturday

The Harrisburg Humane society, in announcing its annual Tag Day to be held Saturday, revealed that the shelter here handled 1,328 animals during the fiscal year ending March 31.

There has been a steady increase in the number of animals handled since the society was organized.

Tags will be sold on the local streets by volunteer grade school children. The society today urged support by the public in maintaining the best animal shelter in southern Illinois.

Begin Task of Rebuilding After Tornadoes

12-State Rampage May Be Listed One of Worst in History

By United Press

The remnants of a vast killer storm moved out into the Atlantic Ocean today, leaving a heart-breaking job of reconstruction behind.

The final death count in the 2-day barrage of tornadoes and storms stood at 43. Hospitals were jammed with many of the estimated 500 injured. Hundreds of families, their homes wrecked, searched for new dwelling places.

In Washington, U. S. Weather Bureau officials said the 12-state tornado rampage may go down as one of the worst in the nation's history. Other tornado barrages have killed more persons. But few have ever moved so fast and covered such a wide area.

The storms came raging out of the Southwest Monday and hit their climax Tuesday night when they killed 17 persons in western Michigan. The vicious weather front kept going east, but lost much of its power trying to get over the Appalachian mountains.

Tornado Funnels Seen

Winds got up to 75 miles an hour at Rochester, N. Y., and a tornado funnel was sighted whirling over Vermont. Winds up to 70 miles per hour hit West Virginia, while a dense fog delayed shipping in New York city and made driving hazardous through eastern and central Massachusetts.

The fog lifted in New York shortly before midnight, however, and the winds died. Forecasters said the East should have clear, sunny weather today.

The warm weather posed a new weather threat for the East. The Albany, N. Y., Weather Bureau issued special flood warnings for New York state communities. Melting snow already sent small streams over their banks, closing some roads and flooding hundreds of cellars, and the Weather Bureau said the situation would probably become more serious as the snow continues to melt.

The twisters' final toll in terms of lives and millions of dollars probably will not be known for weeks. Long after a tornado had passed, the fatality count went up in Tennessee with the death of an infant hospitalized victim.

Floods also plagued parts of Wisconsin and Indiana.

State by State Toll
State by state, the death count was Michigan 17, Wisconsin 8, Tennessee 5, Oklahoma 5, Texas 3, Kansas 2, Mississippi 1, Minnesota 1, and Kentucky 1.

Twisters and storms also spread havoc through parts of Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Arkansas.

Record of Accomplishment by GOP, Stratton Says; Paschen Replies to Sachs

Gov. William G. Stratton Wednesday night told Chicago Republican Party workers "you have a good story of accomplishment to tell the voters and they will respond" in the Illinois primary next Tuesday.

Stratton said President Eisenhower's policies "touched off a period of national prosperity the like of which has never been seen before in the United States."

He said Illinois Democrats lack a program because "it is hard to argue against success" and "in all humility I think that any fair-minded person will concede that the present state administration has been a constructive one."

On the Democratic side, Morris B. Sachs, who is bucking the regular organization and Herbert C. Paschen for the nomination for governor, said he would demand a recount if he lost.

"So they had better take notice," he said, "and leave the ballots alone."

Paschen replied that Sachs' statement was "irresponsible" and that Sachs was not a fit candidate for governor.

Prince to Move Out of Palace to Make Way for Grace Kelly and Her Family

MONACO (AP)—Prince Rainier will move out of his palace to make way for Grace Kelly when she arrives, officials said today.

This development was announced as negotiations reached a stalemate on American newsreel and coverage plans for the wedding of the prince and the pretty American movie star later this month.

In announcing how Rainier will spend his last bachelor days, the officials said his move was in accord with the strict rules of Monegasque protocol.

They said he will move to his nearby villa, permitting Miss Kelly and her family to stay in the sprawling palace until the marriage.

The prince will be in the palace only by day.

Even after the civil ceremony on April 18, he will go back to his Villa Iheria at nearby St. Jean Cap Ferrat, while Grace and her family will return to the pink-walled palace that will be her future home.

The young couple will sail away on the prince's yacht for their ceremony on April 19.

The prince has insisted that American TV and newsreel coverage be limited to two minutes each for the civil ceremony on April 18 and the religious ceremony April 19.

Representatives of the companies here objected to this arrangement. Monacan press chief Jean Gastaud Mercury then announced that the prince would move negotiations on the coverage to New York, where his consul would consult with TV and newsreel company heads.

The prince made other conditions for allowing commercial TV coverage of the wedding.

Angered by the fact that a brasserie company is sponsoring a radio coverage of the wedding in the United States, Rainier has insisted that companies sign a contract not to allow any advertising for three minutes before and three minutes after TV coverage.

Company representatives here had agreed to discuss that point.

The prince also asked the companies to sign contracts agreeing to his conditions. One of the clauses was that any infractions would be prosecuted in the courts of his principality.

New Members Elected to Honor Society at HTHS

New members for the National Honor society were chosen Monday by the teachers at the Harrisburg Township high school.

Elected to the senior society were Ann Endsley, Robert Jones and Judy Franks, and to the junior society, composed of freshmen and sophomores, Janet Tanner and Elizabeth Klein.

The candidates in the senior society are from the top ten per cent of the Junior and Senior classes who have 92 or above average, and candidates for the junior society are taken from the top five per cent who have a 92 or above average. The students' names are listed on ballots and teachers vote on them on the basis of leadership, character and service to the school.

H. B. Bauman is sponsor of the National Honor society and officers are: President, Avah Phillips; vice president, Dorothy Schneider; secretary, Norma McDonald, and treasurer, Judy Farrar.

Trusty Walks Off From County Jail

A prisoner who was a trusty walked off from the county jail yesterday.

Survey Mission Authorized by Security Council

Diplomat Will Seek To Find Means of Ending War Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold said today he planned to hold a top level conference with his Middle East aides in Rome on Saturday before proceeding on his peace mission to Palestine.

He told a news conference that he would "take all the time necessary" to ascertain the situation in the troubled Mideast. The Security Council, which authorized his personal survey mission, Wednesday, instructed him to report on his findings by May 4.

He will leave here Friday for Rome, via London. He said he had summoned for conferences in the Italian capital Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of staff of the U. N. Palestine truce supervision team; Henri Vigier of France, political adviser to Burns, and Henry Labouisse of the United States, chief of the U. N. Palestine Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA).

The Swedish diplomat said he would spend about three days in Rome, going thence to Beirut, London, to begin his tour of Mideast capitals in an effort to find a means of ending the mounting threat of war between Israel and the Arab nations.

Says War Not Imminent

From Beirut, he planned to fly to Cairo on Wednesday for top-level consultations with Egyptian leaders. After that, he said, the remainder of his trip would be "improvised."

Hammarskjold repeated the view he expressed on his return from Middle East conversations two months ago. At that time he said the situation there was "overdramatized" and that war was not immediately imminent.

"If we can get compliance with the armistice agreements," he said, "we should be quite happy. I feel that so long as something useful can be done it should be done. As long as that is the case, there is no reason to talk in a desperate mood."

"When there is a will there is a way and I know there is a will (for peace) all around, wherever I will go."

New Incidents

The resolution sending Hammarskjold to the Mideast was sponsored by the United States which asked early and urgent action on means of reducing the tension. A series of new incidents increased that tension near the breaking point.

1. Egyptian and Israeli artillery blazed across the border near Kisufim for four hours Wednesday in a battle that killed three Israelis and one Arab Palestinian refugee. Each side blamed the other for starting it.

2. The Israeli-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission meeting in Jerusalem accused Jordan of sending infiltrators into Israel to interfere with communication lines. It found the Jordanians guilty of ambushing Israeli vehicles last week in a "breach of the armistice agreement."

To Explain Financial Difficulties of HTHS At Meeting Tonight

Persons interested in the welfare of Harrisburg Township high school are urged to attend a meeting tonight in the H. Assembly which is in the Taylor building on the campus. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30.

At the meeting the financial set-up and financial difficulties of the school will be explained. It will be shown that the school absolutely can not operate as a first class institution under the present rate.

An election has been set for April 20 to vote on a rate increase for educational purposes.

Beta Kappa Chapter Holds Regular Meeting

Beta Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday night, April 2, at the library.

Mrs. Bill Keen gave a report on the Easter Lily tag day. The following school girls helped: Rose Smith, Frances Abney, Vickie McGaha, Judy Watkins, Della Smith, Judy DeVar, Mary Damerson, Joie Cook, Sherry Porter, Wilma Beal, Tracy Davis, Della Smith and Judy DeVar won prizes for selling the most tags. The chapter voted to give a donation to the Red Cross.

After the business meeting everyone enjoyed hearing Miss Alvin Shestak tell of her vacation in Europe last summer.

Mrs. Richard Davenport, Mrs. Noble Shaw and Mrs. J. B. Morse were guests of the evening. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Sam Porter.

Mrs. Eunice Reynolds has returned home from an extended visit with her son, Lester Reynolds and his sons, Butch and Dennis, at Roxana. She also visited Mrs. H. Hughes, East St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Reynolds and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Woolard and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Reynolds and family of Cottage Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Parrish and son, Wendell, have returned from an enjoyable three weeks' vacation in Tucson, Ariz., with their son, T-Sgt. Virgil H. Parrish, and family. Sgt. Parrish is stationed at the Air Force base near Tucson. While in the Southwest they visited many points of interest including two trips to Old Mexico, the "Living Desert and Museum" near Tucson, and Old Tucson which the movie companies of Hollywood have rebuilt to use in the making of western movies.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Shell attended the christening at the Apostolic church of David Brown, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown, who live in one of the rental houses owned by the Shells.

The Record of Representative Gordon E. Kerr--

In Three Terms As Representative Gordon Kerr Has Gained Statewide Recognition as an Honest, Fair and Dependable Legislator, Always Fighting For His District.

THE RECORD PROVES:

Gordon Kerr sponsored and co-sponsored legislation that has brought hundreds of thousands of State Dollars into Southern Illinois.

Supported all legislation for Southern University and the public school system.

Joined other members of the Legislature in fighting for the interest of the coal industry and the welfare of the coal miner.

Sponsored and supported legislation to improve the welfare of the aged people of Illinois, and to remove the lien on their property.

One of the leaders in the fight for equalization of auto and truck license fees without the loss of revenue to the State of Illinois.

A sponsor of the Korean Bonus and will again sponsor a bonus the Governor can sign.

That the welfare of the people of his district comes first, regardless of pressure groups.

He has co-operated with City, County and State officials for the betterment of the District. Also he has and will continue to co-operate with the State Senator and other members of the Legislature from this district.

Has always been friendly with the organizations and his re-election has been recommended by leading organizations.

A leader in the fight to make Southern Illinois a great recreational area, a necessity to attract industry and also bring new money into Southern Illinois.

JUST A FEW OF MANY STATEMENTS RECEIVED BY REP. KERR —

If government of the people can be accomplished by the people, it assuredly can be done by a Representative with the background of experience possessed by GORDON KERR.

Gordon Kerr's attitudes, principles and beliefs spring from a lifetime of contact with the problems, hopes and fears of the people who have made the State of Illinois—the average man, who knows what he wants if he can find his spokesman.

The Republican Herald.

I am sure that the school people of the State—including the teachers and the boys and girls—would want me, on their behalf, to express their appreciation and gratitude for the service which you rendered on behalf of PUBLIC EDUCATION in the sixty-ninth General Assembly.

Vernon L. Nickell
Supt. Public Instruction.

Seldom does a small community produce a man who is able to help his district as much as REPRESENTATIVE KERR has.

Governor William G. Stratton
May 29, 1955.

It is with sincere appreciation that we say "thank you for a job well done" in regards to the recently completed session of the legislature.

Secretary, Quadri-County TB Project.

Citation by State Convention of American Legion for handling ANTI COMMUNIST legislation in the House that is now a law.

It is important to the welfare of the new 59th district that you send an experienced Republican to Springfield. With Cook County in control of the House we can not afford to make a mistake. The experience of Gordon Kerr can be very helpful to this district.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

Throughout history, the scoffers at religion have gone to meetings to boo, and have remained to cheer. Saul of Tarsus wanted to kill the leaders of the early church, but he spent most of his life helping to spread the influence of the church.

Recently a Communist leader in London went to a revival service to study the methods of the evangelist who had attracted such large crowds.

He found the young man preaching with a sincerity he had never seen in Communist gatherings. He found the evangelist failing to exploit the intense emotions as Communist leaders were trained to do. Rather, this preacher moved his audience through volleys of thunder into a calm and peace and momentous appeal to the hearts and minds of individual people.

The Communist leader attended several of the evangelistic meetings and finally gave himself to the great cause of religion. He faced the loneliness of loss of friends and the derision of being known as a traitor.

Much to his surprise, he did not find himself alone, nor was he cast aside by people. It is true that he lost most of his old friends, but his new friends were much more satisfying and certainly much deeper in their sincerity.

He found new peace and joy in his own home and in his new way of life.

Grinding Gizzards

In birds, gizzards take the place of teeth for grinding food. The seed-eaters, such as chickens and canaries, also eat stones and gravel to help the grinding process.

Record Number Of Fairs Apply For State Funds

SPRINGFIELD — State Agriculture Director Stillman J. Standard announced Tuesday that 103 agricultural and industrial fair associations, a record number, have applied for state fair funds.

The 1956 applications totaled five more than applied in 1955, the previous high.

Eighty-seven of the fairs will draw funds from the agricultural premium fund and 16 will draw from the fair and exposition fund.

In addition, Cook county has filed to participate in the fair and exposition fund, with the money it is allotted to be used to build a Chicago exposition hall, as provided in the Cook county metropolitan fair and exposition authority bill of 1955.

Standard said the "tentative" allotment for Cook county from state funds will be $1,777,580 this year.

The fair funds are derived from separate taxes on pari-mutuel harness and horse race betting.

Elephant on Menu 29,000 Years Ago

BALTIMORE, Md. — A Johns Hopkins University professor reports evidence that man roasted and ate elephants on Santa Rosa Island, 30 miles off the coast of California — 29,000 years ago.

Dr. George F. Carter said archeologists formerly believed early man was not in the region when the dwarf mammoth roamed Santa Rosa. It was thought that man's presence in the area dated back only about 8,000 years.

Carter and Philip C. Orr, curator of anthropology at the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History, discovered burned elephant bones in what was believed to be a man-made fire pit. Carbon 14 tests completed on the bones at Columbia University recently indicated the prehistoric beasts were roasted in primeval camp fires 29,650 years ago.

Carter said he learned during his research that many persons were surprised that elephants were edible.

"The elephant," he said, "is the original large economy-size package of protein and has long been prized as such."

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American, has been asked to deliver a document to London by Stergiou, a Greek lawyer, at the time of the German invasion of Greece in 1941. When Mike visits Stergiou again, he finds the lawyer dead, and a British major dying in the office. Mike is told he must deliver the message—he has no choice. The Germans already are seeking him.

IV
The taxi sped through the slippery streets, jolting to sudden stops and taking turns on two wheels with a total disregard for life and limb.

The waves of fear, slowly subsided in Morrison, but the events of the past hours were as blurred as the buildings he sped past. It was still impossible for him to think clearly. He clung to one thought as he fought off the walls of unconsciousness closing in on him. He had to get on that airplane at Tatoi and get as far away from Athens and Greece as he could. It was only this basic instinct of self preservation that held back the effects of three bottles of Krasi and the lightning chain of events that had followed.

At 10:45 the taxi screeched to a halt before an entanglement of barbed wire which encompassed the airfield.

"Put out those headlights," a sentry ordered.

Mike reeled from the cab, paid the driver and staggered toward the sentry.

"There's a plane for me. . . Major—Major Howe-Wilken."

The guard studied the wavering figure with much apprehension. Morrison was, indeed, a sorry sight.

"May I see your pass?"

"Pass. . . Sure—sure."

The soldier took the card and stepped into the small guard shack and turned a muffled flashlight on it. He returned to Mike, snapped to attention and peeled off a rigid British salute to perfection. Mike sighed in relief.

The guard went into the shack again and closed the phone. "This is Private Edmonds, station three. Major Howe-Wilken has arrived."

reaching toward the sky. In its light he saw the airplane on the east burn into searing oblivion.

He crawled back to the prostrate body of the guard. The scream again! A blast rolled him against the wall. They won't get me! They won't get me!

He half tore the clothes from the guard's body. . . They won't get me. . . they won't get me. . . He tugged at the man's pants; then ripped his own clothes from him.

He struggled into the guard's clothes as the thunder outside rose to a crescendo.

His bare fist fished through the pockets of his own clothes. Envelope—wallet—pipes—passport—the credential—pistol. . .

He staggered through the doorway.

A shadow raced over the runway toward the shack. "Morrison! Morrison!" a voice pierced through the inferno. "Morrison! Morrison!"

Announce New Events In Spring Sports Schedule at HTHS

Lawrence Calufetti, HTHS athletic director, today announced additional events in the spring sports schedule.

On April 17 there will be a dual track meet at Fairfield.

Two baseball games against Morrison!" The shadow took the form of a man.

Mike stumbled, crawled, bolted toward the line of trucks on the highway.

The spinning would not stop. American Embassy — they'll get you—empty wet streets. . .

Then there was nothing.

Mike's body was shoved aboard a truck. The tail gate clanged shut behind him.

The convoy roared off.

Eisenhower Asks Response to Red Cross Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expressed confidence today that the American people will respond generously to Red Cross appeals for funds to help tornado victims in the Middle West and South.

The President asked news media to give wide publicity to a telegram he received this morning from E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross. Mr. Eisenhower made his request through Press Secretary James C. Hagerly.

Harriman said the Red Cross had mobilized to meet the needs of 1,500 families affected by the tornadoes. He estimated some 800 families will require financial help from the Red Cross for restoration of homes and small businesses and to meet medical costs.

Harriman said recent floods in the East and West just about wiped out Red Cross disaster funds.

First groups of Camp Fire girls were formed in 1910.

Democratic Voters:

For the past several years, I have served as Senatorial Committeeman from Saline county. Each county names a committeeman to serve on the District committee to determine the number of Representative nominees, and to fill vacancies in event of emergencies. I have always attempted to work for the best interest of the Democratic party.

Under the new legislative reapportionment, committeemen are elected as before, but are called Representative committeemen. I am a candidate for that office. It pays nothing, except the honor and the chance to be of service to the party. I will appreciate your vote for Representative committeeman at the April 10 primary.

The main reason why ground limestone or other liming materials are applied to acid soils is to make them more suitable for growing farm crops, particularly alfalfa and the clovers. To be MOST EFFECTIVE, it is HIGHLY IMPORTANT that the LIMESTONE BE OF GOOD QUALITY. It should have a high capacity to neutralize soil acids and be FINE enough to accomplish this within a few weeks.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE is top quality. COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE gives you more plant food per dollar spent than any material money can buy. COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE is 20% finer than 200 mesh—giving you more FINE POWDERY LIMESTONE, which will act quicker in neutralizing soil acidity.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE is high in calcium with sufficient magnesium carbonate for any soil. Let:

90 Candidates Greet Coach Eliot for Spring Football Drills at U. of Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Ninety candidates, including 13 lettermen and a bumper crop of freshmen, greeted Coach Ray Eliot for opening of spring football drills at University of Illinois today.

Three letter winners, two of them 1955 regulars, will miss spring drills, to compete in other sports. Abe Woodson, Chicago (Austin) in track, and Ray Nitschke, Chicago (Proviso), and Rolla McMullen, Canton, in baseball.

Reporting are these lettermen: Ends — Rod Hanson, Harvey (Thornton), Gary Francis, Bloomington; tackles — Dick Nordmeyer, Tucson, Ariz., Dick Miller, Lanark; guards — Percy Oliver, Miami, Fla., Robert Baletto, Creator, David Walker, Yorkville.

Centers — Jim Minor, Chicago (Lea); Clem Ryan, Park Ridge (Moline); quarterback — Hiles Stout, Peoria; halfbacks — Harry Jefferson, White Plains, N. Y., Bob Mitchell, Hot Springs, Ark., and fullback — Dan Wile, Salem.

Twelve squad members who failed to earn letters in 1955 give some depth in experienced men on whom Coach Eliot may call. Included are: John Everett, Gary, Ind. (Roosevelt), end; Paul Adams, Waukegan, Dick Perez, Aurora (Marmion), and George Brokemond, East Chicago, Ind., tackles.

Pete Fiorito, Forest Park (Proviso), Joe Bellephant, Kankakee, Vito Iovino, Chicago (Mt. Carmel), and Ralph Nelson, Ottawa, guards; Chuck Schrader, Champaign, Don Fenner, Lake Zurich, and Dick Stearny, Chicago (Harrison), quarterbacks, and Dick Hendricksen, Rock Island, fullback.

With development of a topnotch quarterback to replace Em Lindbeck and producing depth at virtually every position as his chief objectives in spring practice, Eliot will look hopefully for aid to a group of promising freshmen.

Among those who will draw attention of the Illinois coach are: Quarterbacks — Tom Haller, Lockport; William Offenbecker, Alliance, Ohio.

Ends — James Brown, Mendota; Larry Stewart, Galesburg; Ron Hill, Rochelle; Bruce Beckman and Fred Beckman, St. Louis, Mo.

Flora Selected As Tourney Site by Western Tennis Ass'n

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Western Tennis Assn. today announced official sanction of tournaments this summer at three Illinois sites, Flora, Decatur and Mattoon.

Tournaments approved for Decatur were for junior girls and boys singles and doubles July 1-4, men's singles and doubles Aug. 17-19, and men's and women's singles and doubles, junior boys and girls singles and doubles and boys and girls singles July 27-29.

A men's doubles event was approved for Flora July 4, July 7 and July 8, while men's and women's singles and doubles and junior girls singles and doubles was approved for Mattoon Sept. 1-3.

Shawneetown Defeats Ridgway, 10 to 2, in Baseball Opener

Shawneetown high school opened its baseball schedule Wednesday afternoon with a decisive 10-2 victory over Ridgway. The game was played on the Ridgway diamond.

Nolen, Gunzel and Drone, familiar names to basketball fans, were prominent in the Shawneetown victory. Nolen hurled the first five innings and received credit for the win. Gunzel pitched the last two frames and Drone, the receiver, picked a couple of runners off base. Nolen and Gunzel cracked out home runs to lead the winners at bat.

Mills went all the way on the mound for Ridgway and Jones was his catcher.

Starkey's Grocery at Carrier Mills Moves To Larger Quarters

Starkey's grocery, Carrier Mills, has been moved from its former location on Main street to larger and more convenient quarters on Oak street.

The grocery, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey is now being operated in the large store building next door to the Harris drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. Starkey returned to Carrier Mills last fall from Phoenix, Ariz., where they had made their home for a few years and went into the grocery business.

Their business soon required more room and when the larger building became available just recently they moved into it.

Starkey's grocery is a complete food market, with a complete line of groceries, fresh fruits and vegetables and meats.

Lemon, Feller Blank Giants as Indians Win, 2-0

By United Press
Bob Lemon and Bob Feller had Manager Al Lopez convinced — at long last — today that they'll be major factors in helping the Cleveland Indians try to recapture the American league pennant.

The 35-year old Lemon and the 37-year old Feller eased Lopez's worries Wednesday when they teamed for a 5-hit performance that gave the Indians a 2-0 triumph over the New York Giants at Austin, Tex. Lemon yielded four hits for six innings and then Feller completed the shutout when he allowed only one blow the remainder of the way.

With opening day less than two weeks distant, the pitching seemed to be improving all around the Grapefruit Circuit.

The Cincinnati Redlegs got 5-hit pitching from Bill Kennedy, Brooks Lawrence and Hershel Freeman to beat the Washington Senators, 5-0.

Dick Marlowe and Bob Miller, meanwhile, teamed up in a 7-hit job to pitch the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 win over the Boston Red Sox.

The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped Art Ceccarelli's string of 20 scoreless innings by scoring three times in the second inning and went on to beat the Kansas City Athletics, 4-2.

The Philadelphia Phillies, also getting capable pitching, scored three runs off Bob Grim in the eighth inning to down the New York Yankees, 4-3.

The other two games involved plenty of blows as the Milwaukee Braves edged out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-5, amid a flurry of threats, alleged beanballs and fistfights at Mobile, Ala., and the Baltimore Orioles crushed the Chicago Cubs, 15-4, with a 15-hit attack.

Boy, 3, Hanged During Play

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — A 3-year-old boy was found hanged here Wednesday, apparently as the result of a children's outlaw game.

The victim, Thomas Roger Poe, was hanging by his neck from a rope attached to a rafter above the garage door. A large milk pan he had apparently been standing on was found kicked over beneath him.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Poe, said that their son had been playing with a group of neighborhood children.

When questioned, the other children appeared too frightened to give the details of the Poe boy's death, authorities said.

Reject South Vaccine Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Public Health Service today officially rejected the idea of giving the South priority on current shipments of Salk polio vaccine because the season strikes there earlier.

It declared "the national interest can best be served" by continuing the present nationwide distribution system in which all states get their vaccine at about the same time.

"Each state," it said, "... needs its full share of vaccine in order to protect as large a portion of its population as possible."

Tempers Still Smouldering From Flare Up Between Dodger, Brave Players

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Don Newcombe led the Brooklyn Dodgers in declaring they're "ready for anything" today when the world champions resumed their rubber-plagued Grapefruit League series with the Milwaukee Braves.

Tempers which broke out in Mobile, Ala., Wednesday still were smouldering Wednesday night when the teams arrived on the same train and went by bus to their hotel.

Brooklyn players told reporters that they had learned of uncomplimentary remarks that Braves had made in a Miami nightclub recently—especially in regard to Dodger pitchers. The Dodgers said the Braves — apparently reshaping the recent beaming of Willie Jones of the Philadelphia Phillies — called the Dodger pitchers "gutless" as a group and specifically singled out Newcombe.

It was Newcombe who beamed Jones — although the Phillies' third baseman later said it was accidental.

The teams have six more games to play on an 11-game spring series and insiders believed there was a definite possibility there would be further incidents. The Braves are expected to supply the Dodgers with their staunchest competition during the National League campaign.

Campanella Knocked Down

The long-dormant bad feeling between the teams broke out like a "flash fire" at Mobile Wednesday after pitcher Bob Buhl, one of Milwaukee's key hurlers, knocked down catcher Roy Campanella of the Dodgers with a pitch.

Campanella hit into a double play on the next pitch but collided heavily with first-baseman Joe Adcock and there were heated words from both benches.

Tempers cooled a bit but suddenly flared again in the third inning when Jackie Robinson was batting for Brooklyn. Catcher Del Rice of the Braves suddenly ripped off his mask and charged the Brooklyn bench. He was restrained by Carl Furillo but Adcock then rushed to his aid. Duke Snider restrained Adcock and in a few moments the field was filled with players from both benches.

The situation reached a peak moments later when Buhl's next pitch hit Robinson the right wrist. But Buhl raced off the mound and told Robinson it was accidental.

Oilers Defeat All-Stars, 79-75

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Five members of the champion Phillips Oilers from Bartlesville, Okla., today were named to the 12-man United States Olympic basketball squad to play in Melbourne, Australia, next November.

They are center Chuck Darling, formerly of Iowa; Burdy Halderson and Bob Jeangerard, both formerly of Colorado; Jim Walsh of Stanford; and Bill Hougland, Kansas, the only repeat performer on the 1956 squad.

Big Bill Russell of San Francisco led a three-man College All-Star group. His teammate, K. C. Jones, also was named, as was Carl Cain of Iowa.

Bill Evans, former Kentucky ace, Gib Ford of Texas and Ron Tomsic of Stanford were picked from the Armed Forces team. Dick Boushka of St. Louis rounded out the squad.

The six alternates named were Joe Dean, Louisiana State; Hal Lear, Temple; Willie Naulls, UCLA; Ray Warren, Texas Christian; and Charles Koon and Terry Rand, Marquette.

Phillips won the crown from the College All-Stars, 79-75, Wednesday night while the Seattle Buchanan Bakers downed the Armed Forces, 82-79.

Some of the lawmakers said they had never thought there was any likelihood that the chief executive would make such a move without Congress' approval even though he has the constitutional authority to do so in case of national emergency.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "I certainly approve of his consulting Congress first." However, Fulbright said, "I hadn't even seriously considered the possibility of our sending troops into the area."

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), ranking GOP member of the committee, said he was "very happy" that any such move, if it became necessary, would be "in joint action with Congress."

Mr. Eisenhower, in a rare display of emotion, emphatically declared at his news conference Wednesday that he never will send American troops to war in the Middle East or elsewhere without congressional approval.

His eyes flashing, the President said Congress alone has power "to declare war and I am going to observe" it. He added, "I get discouraged sometimes" because "I have said this so often that it seems to me almost ridiculous to ask me the question."

Even Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who frequently has criticized the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy, said "I certainly approve of that statement."

Sue Bonding Firms For Drillers' Failure To Restore Land

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today sued five bonding companies for failure of 10 oil drillers to restore land around abandoned oil wells and dry holes to its original condition. Castle said he will file suits later involving three more wells. The bonds are $1,000 each. If the bonds are forfeited the money will go to the state treasurer.

The bonding companies and the drillers were: Travelers Indemnity Co., for Louis Kaskie, Richland County; Guy Ackerman, White County; William Briddick, Saline County; and E. C. Merrill, White County.

Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, Anna Cole, two wells, Saline County.

Murphy Says Red Cross Collections Insufficient for Full Services

John Murphy, county fund drive chairman for the American Red Cross, has announced that $4,648.60 has been turned in by the township chairmen. This is not adequate to continue the Red Cross services in the county and Mr. Murphy feels that if more people understand the Red Cross programs more contributions will be sent in. All the townships are receiving services and every resident should feel a responsibility in continuing these services, especially to men in service and their families, he said.

Every person who contributes $1 or more is a member of the Red Cross organization. By contributions every member is helping provide the military hospitals and installations with reports to assist the military authorities in making decisions regarding such matters as emergency discharge or emergency leave; in making diagnosis and treatment plans for ill or disabled servicemen; in helping the serviceman or veteran and dependents apply for government benefits; providing referral service when the service requested is available from other agencies and organizations; and in making a financial assistance program available which is governed by the amount of money the chapter has to operate on during the fiscal year.

Red Cross is primarily an organization of service and training. All Red Cross workers in Saline county are volunteers except the executive secretary. First Aid, Home Care of the Sick, and Disaster training, for volunteers is available through the local chapter to any group wishing to take the training.

Blood is provided at no cost for the product, by volunteer blood donors and members contributing to the fund drive, in all the hospitals in the county and to residents of Saline county in any hospital that will accept Red Cross blood replacement. To remain in the Blood program, Saline county must pay its proportionate part of the operation of the St. Louis Regional Blood center, recruit blood donors, and provide volunteers when the bloodmobile is in the county.

Red Cross has the responsibility of providing immediate needs and basic necessities of food, clothing, shelter and medical, during the emergency period of major natural disasters, and rehabilitation of individuals on the basis of need as the result of such a disaster. In a chapter the size of Saline county chapter, these funds are provided by the national organization for disaster relief. Our chapter, of course, pays its proportionate part of national expenses to keep Red Cross field directors in every part of the world where servicemen are stationed and to help support the disaster program, and other services provided the chapters by the national organization.

The Saline County Chapter only tries to support the programs designated by law as the responsibility of Red Cross, the blood program, and the training programs in First Aid, Home Care of the Sick and Disaster training. The number of programs the chapter has and the extent of financial assistance is determined by the amount contributed in the county. Communications to men in service who have emergencies in their immediate families is one of the most expensive programs as these communications usually must go by wire or telephone. The Blood program also is expensive but one that is needed in the county.

The quota this year of $12,005.00 was based on a minimum budget. If it is not reached, a working budget will have to be set up, based on the amount collected which will naturally curtail expenditures in all programs. The local chapter only budgets for the programs not provided by any other organization or agency in the county. Contributions may be mailed to John Murphy, Red Cross Office, Harrisburg, Ill. Mr. Murphy urges all chairmen in the county to complete their solicitations as soon as possible.

Report Increase In Degrees Awarded by SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. —Most colleges and universities throughout the country had fewer graduates last year, but Southern Illinois university awarded 37 per cent more degrees than the year before.

The drop in the number of college graduates was noted by S. M. Brownell, Commissioner of Education for the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in a recent bulletin. He said 4254 fewer degrees were awarded in the 1954-55 academic year than in the previous year.

At Southern, 630 bachelor's and master's degrees were given in 1954-55, compared with 388 the year before. In addition, the number of associate degrees awarded in the same period jumped from 13 to 66. Associate degrees are conferred on students completing a two-year program at Southern's Vocational-Technical Institute. In the combined totals for June and August commencements in 1954, Southern graduated 274 persons with bachelor's degrees and 124 with master's degrees. The following year, the figures were 470 and 160.

The Flame on Cyprus

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The continuing violence on the British-ruled Mediterranean island of Cyprus underscores the gravity of a situation that was allowed to go too far before serious efforts at solution were begun.

The islanders, four fifths of them Greek, have been seeking independence and ultimate union with mainland Greece.

For a long time Britain turned a virtually deaf ear to all pleas.
When negotiations finally did take place, it evidently was too late for moderate men to prevail.

The extremists among the Cypriots were by then riding hard.
Terrorism against British troops was common.

The British now say that Archbishop Makarios, Cypriot leader, was in league with the terrorists and that, furthermore, he did not negotiate in good faith for a reasonable solution. That was their excuse for deporting him to a distant isle in the Indian Ocean.

But it should be plain that the extremists' link with the extremists is somewhat beside the point. The hard fact is that they are calling the turn, and he would surely have been their captive if not their willing collaborator.

In other words, the Cypriots' emotions had been permitted to run too high, giving the extremists their opportunity. Once they had seized it, the course of moderation looked too mild to most Cypriots.

The British belatedly tried to meet the issue by undertaking negotiations pointed toward self-government as a step toward possible self-determination and union with Greece. They seemed to have attained the essentials of an agreement, but it foundered on the rock of differences over details.

Here it was that Makarios raised ed constantly stiffer demands as the British sought to justify each complaint.

Either deliberately or because his hand was being forced, Ma-karios drove toward the goal set by the extremists.

The bargaining broke down. As violence on Cyprus went on, the British arrested and deported Ma-karios as the key to the turmoil.
The move only further inflamed the islanders, and now seems ill-advised.

The British still say they are willing to talk of reasonable solutions. Obviously, however, the Cypriots are unlikely to settle the matter within a framework they already view as discredited.

Perhaps only in the detached atmosphere of the United Nations can calm consideration of Cyprus' future be achieved. This the Cypriots have repeatedly sought.
If the U. N. did attempt a settlement, Britain and its Western friends would have to work carefully to guard Western defense interests centered on the Cyprus military and naval base.

At stake, too, is the whole NATO network in the Mediterranean zone.

Nevertheless, matters could hardly get much worse than they are today. The present unrest on Cyprus endangers the entire fabric of Western unity in what has become the most critical trouble spot on earth—the Middle East.

Doctor, Former State Representative, Dies at Tuscola

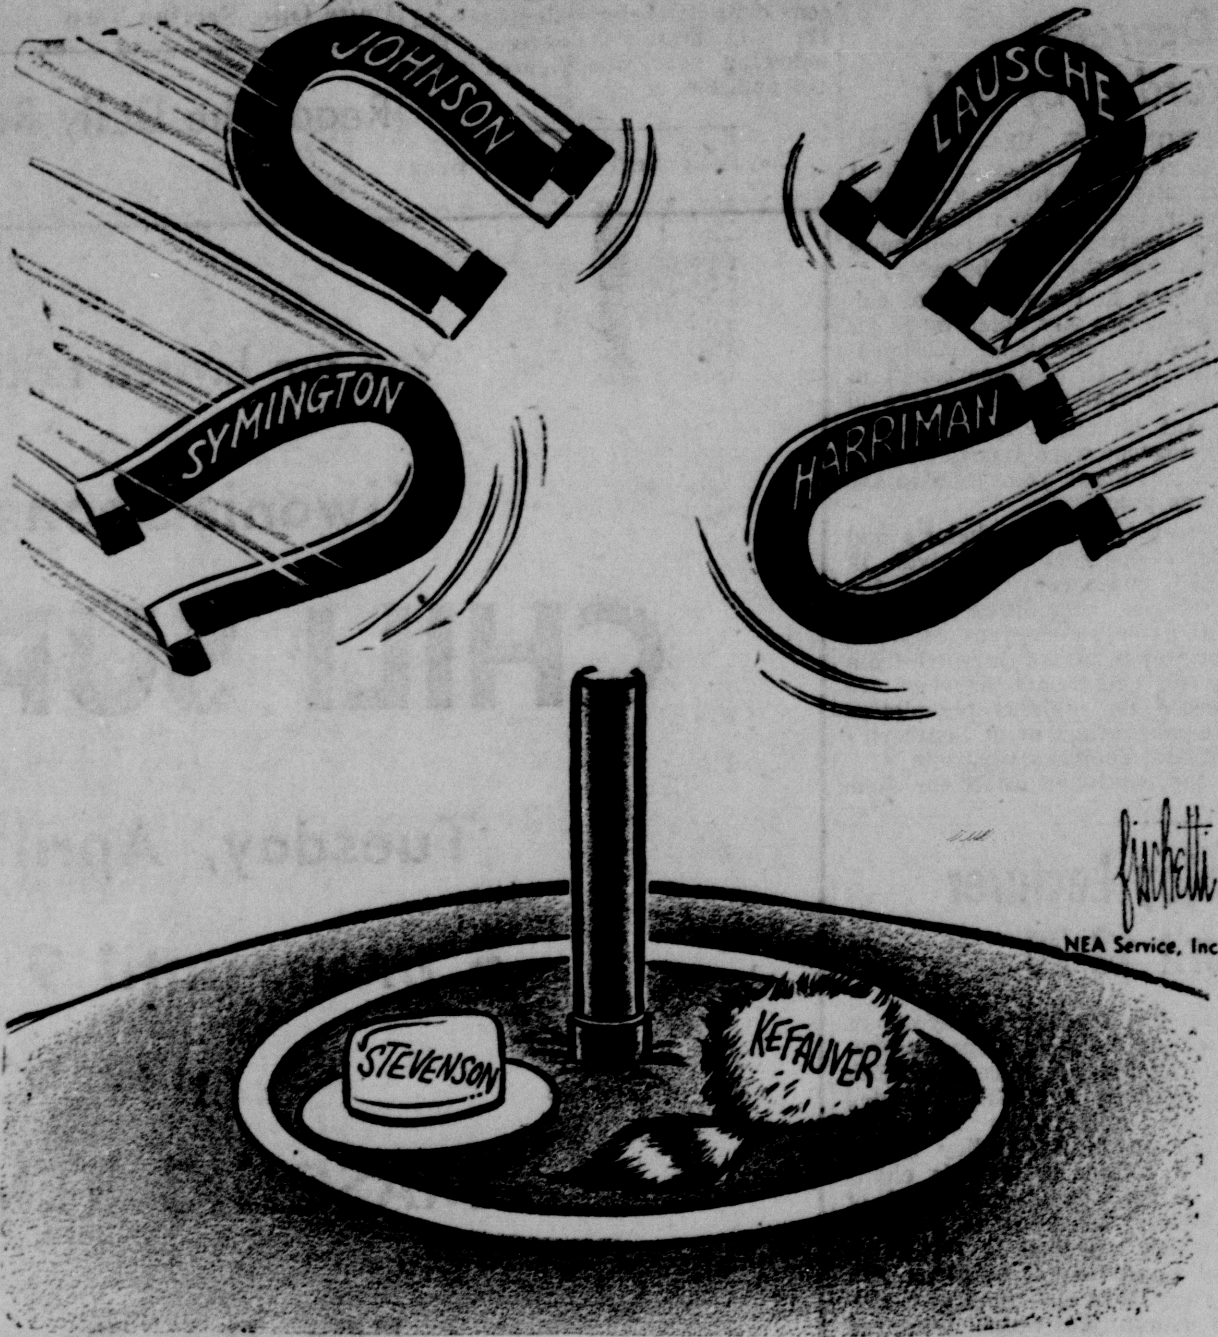

TUSCOLA, Ill. (AP)—Dr. Myron E.
Lollar, 75, Tuscola, died Wednesday at Jarman hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home.
Lollar was Republican state representative from the 34th District.
He has served three terms in the state House of Representatives.
He was a candidate for re-election from the new 51st House District, running against four opponents for two Republican nominations.

Lollar was reared on a farm in Clay county, attended Blackburn College at Carlinville for one year and was graduated from Austin

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Stevenson Leaders Determine
To Do Or Die For Adlai; They Will Use Rayburn To Kill Kefauver At Chicago; John Maragon, Despite His Past, Deserved A Job.

WASHINGTON. — Some of the big Democratic bosses backing Adlai Stevenson got together in Pittsburgh shortly after Adlai's defeat in Minnesota to try to figure out what they should do.

The meeting was held at the invitation of Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, one of the staunchest Stevenson backers.
Col. Jake Arvey of Chicago was invited, also Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany Hall, though neither could make it.

However, Jim Finnegan, former leader of the Democrats in Philadelphia, together with other Stevenson leaders, attended.

Its net result was a decision to back Stevenson to the bitter end and knock Kefauver off at any cost. The leaders were confident they could deal Kefauver out of the nomination at the convention, no matter how many primaries he wins. Their attitude was one of let the public go hang. They talked of controlling the convention through Speaker Sam Rayburn, apparently counting on Rayburn's well-known bitterness against Kefauver.

As for Stevenson's chances in November, the bosses told each other that almost any Democrat can win as long as Nixon stays on

MAILBAG

Milton Bellis, New York — It is true that I had something to do with getting a job for John Maragon in the folding room of the House of Representatives. It is also true that I had something to do with sending him to jail. The facts in my columns on Maragon's highhanded manner in using Gen.
Harry Vaughan to throw his weight around Washington still stand.

However, when a man has served his punishment, I see no reason why he should be persecuted. So, when I learned that officials on Capitol Hill were afraid of hiring Maragon because of criticism from me, I told them I hoped they would give him a job. He's been out of work a long time. I understand he's working hard now, and I hope he makes good.

Alf M. Landon, Topeka, Kans. — I appreciate your writing me that you are not Governor Hall's adviser and that he stands on his own feet. However, that isn't exactly what the governor told me.
He paid great tribute to you as his friend and counselor.

J. Edgar Hoover, Washington —
Thanks for your note making it clear that it was Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney, not you, who delayed from December 30 to March 14 in answering Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon that irregularities she charged in the Morningside hospital in Portland failed to indicate violations of a federal criminal statute.
I note that the FBI reviewed Mrs.
Green's information promptly and referred to the Criminal Division of Justice Department on January 12, where it waited for a reply until March 14.

George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury—Thanks for your letter, sent me at the request of Vice President Nixon, that he did not visit the President at Thomas-ville, Ga. Though my original information regarding the geographic location of their talk came from a member of the White House staff, I am sure you, the host at Thomasville, are in the best position of all to know the truth, and I am delighted to set this fact straight.

Evan Kemp, Jr., Lexington,
Va. — President Eisenhower stated in his press conference shortly after he announced his availability for a second term that he had conferred with Vice President Nixon and suggested that he "chart out his own course." After the New Hampshire write-in for Nixon, Eisenhower made a brief statement that he would be happy to have Nixon on the ticket. He then shut off all further questions at that time and as to future press conferences. Nothing has been said since, and it is now up to Mr.

Nixon to chart his own course and for GOP leaders to help him chart
it. They and Eisenhower will actually have much more to say about it than Nixon will.

Earl Griffiths, MacClenny, Fla. —
At no time have I published a statement that Senator Smathers owned natural gas stock. It was reported in Washington that one of the two Florida senators owned such stock, but Mr. Smathers informs me that neither he nor his wife owns stock, and I accept his word. It is correct, of course, that Senator Smathers voted for the gas bill, now vetoed.

H. J. T. Horan, Caracas, Venezuela — The Society of Friends (Quakers) of which both Vice President Nixon and I are members, recently approved in its 276th yearly meeting in Philadelphia the right of a former Communist, Mary Knowles, to plead the Fifth Amendment. Mrs.
Knowles had been retained as librarian for the Quaker-sponsored community library by the Plymouth Quaker meeting despite her refusal to answer questions put to her by Senator Eastland (D., Miss.). The fund for the republic later contributed to the Plymouth meeting because of its stand.

The 276th yearly annual meeting, attended by 500 representatives from 93 Friends' meetings, also adopted a "minute" critical of loyalty oaths. It stated: "It is central to our faith that we obey God rather than men."

New Drilling Device For Gulf is Tried

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The oil industry is going to beat a path to the door of the man who designs a better piece of equipment for drilling in the Gulf of Mexico.

"The Offshore Structure and Service Co., of Houston, isn't fearful that its front door will be battered in this week," said Harold LeBourgeois, Houston Post oil editor, "but it does believe it has hit on a design that will get the job done—from shothole drilling in the surf to drilling in 600 feet of water.

The new device, called the "Scissors," is a brainchild of Ivan W.
Mangone, one of four partners in the firm.

The "scissors" unit consists of a drilling rig on a barge with four legs that float lengthwise at angles to the barge while it is being towed into position.

When the barge reaches location, the legs are simply upended by a winch and lowered to the ocean floor.

Mangone lists the principal features of the "scissors" as a quick and easy move to or from location, a low center of gravity for safe towing, adaptation to deep water and lowering of drilling costs.

When completed, the Pan-American highway will be one continuous ribbon of hard-surfaced road,

HERE WE ARE AGAIN!

Yes, Merrill has been helping hair worried men and women of your city for several years now and come back regularly to counsel with them and check on their progress and results. This particular visit should be of great interest to you if you are in the category of "concerned" about your hair and scalp, for we are fortunate to have one of our leading consultants in both the U. S. and Canada, that will not only check with present Merrill clients as to their progress but will also consult with new clients concerning their disorders of their scalp.

You see, the only time new clients are accepted for consultation is when enough of the present clients have been dismissed with the desired permanent results to allow enough time for the consultant to accept new clients. The statements offered below with addresses attached were given freely by grateful clients of the American Trichological Association. They are repeated here because Merrill realizes there has been so much abuse and deception practiced regarding the hair and scalp, Merrill felt it necessary to offer proof of its seemingly miraculous results. (We do not reveal names of former clients without their express permission) However, we do have many more amazing results of clients that have been gracious enough to permit their use. These will be made available for your scrutiny upon your visit to our Consultant.

"I have been told that you can not grow hair on a bald scalp. Merrill is doing it! The treatment should go on the records as the greatest discovery of all times."

Ernest Johnson
567 Lynn Street
Fostoria, Ohio

"It will be one year next month when I started with the treatment. I now have a nice growth of hair and very little gray considering my age. During those early weeks it was some effort, but now I am glad I was so faithful. Thought you would like to know how pleased I am."

M. E. Bernheisel
West Palm Beach, Fla.

"I, Maurice LaFleur, was a case of hair disaster. But now, thanks to Merrill for the swell job they are doing. I was losing my hair and was completely discouraged until a miracle came along, I guess. I saw an ad in the paper. Merrill it was, it was there to help me. I wish you could see my hair now. It has recovered very good. So friends and everybody, do not gamble and lose all your hair; act now with Merrill and save your hair. In my true words, friends, you will get your money's worth.

Maurice LaFleur,
Irasburg, Vt.

St. Louis Making Elaborate Plans For Fall Jubilee

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—The "Meet Me in St. Louis, Louie" spirit will have a modern revival next September in a month-long exposition called Mid-America Jubilee, planned by St. Louis civic leaders.

Its backers hope this new exposition on the banks of the Mississippi will become an annual major showplace of midwestern aspirations and achievements surpassing the famed St. Louis World's Fair of 50 years ago.

The Jubilee will be staged by City-Country Cavalcade, Inc., a non-profit organization of business leaders who already have subscribed necessary financial underwriting for the project.

The corporation is organized into some 30 committees to assure a broad base of participation for all facets of the Midwest—civic, business, religious, labor, educational, nationality, military, recreational.

Many Facets

Entertainment-wise, there will be an extravaganza headed by a star of national prominence and a cast of hundreds. In this, the accent will be on the contemporary scene and the future, but with "appropriate respect accorded the colorful and historic past."

The exhibition structures will incorporate modern design and new building techniques which will make them, in themselves, exhibits. In contrast, a charming old-time beer garden of the 1904 era will be re-created, complete with costumed dance bands playing turn-of-the-century waltzes and polkas. This will highlight the city's importance as a brewery center.

A model farm, typical of the Midwest, will form the nucleus for displaying all types of farm equipment. Prize livestock, poultry and other agricultural products will be exhibited and judged.

Fashions, Too

One of the seven pavilions will be a geodesic dome to house a "theater-in-the-round." It will be devoted to the display of another important St. Louis product, apparel. Fashion shows will be a continuous daily feature.

The amusement area, primarily for youngsters, will include old-style carousels, ferris wheels, miniature railroad and other attractions typical of the early 1900's.

The jubilee will start shortly after the city's outdoor Municipal Opera season ends and will end before the annual visit of His Majesty, the veiled Prophet of Khorasan, in the first week of October.

The whole affair will be directed by Alfred Stern of New York City, who has numerous successful civic celebrations to his credit, including the Detroit Automobile Golden Jubilee of 1946 and that city's year-long Birthday Festival in 1951.

Big Shrimp

Freshwater shrimp run to extremes in size. Most are too small to be of any commercial value, but one species, Macrobrachium carolinense, of southern Florida, grows to a length of two feet.

Bible Rolls Up New Six Million Record

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Best-sellers come and go, but the Bible keeps rolling along. Last year, 1955, was the all-time record year for Bible sales in the U. S., and publishers and booksellers alike figure that '56 should see a new record.

Each year, too, the Bible comes out in some new dress. By now there are an estimated 1,000 different versions of the Bible and the two Testaments—in everything from Braille editions for the blind to special abbreviated versions for children.

In 1955, some six million Bibles were sold in the U. S. By far the vast majority of these were the King James version editions, but sizable sales were racked up for the Old Testament sold separately, the new Revised Standard Version and other special versions of all or portions of the Bible.

This six million figure compares with the approximately 450,000 sales of the so-called "best-seller" of '55—Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift From the Sea." And, when you figure the Bible has been in circulation for a few years before, it's easy to see the tremendous edge this sacred book has over all other books ever printed.

While the Bible is generally thought of as a black-covered book, there've been some intruders made into that field by a few publishers. White Bibles have been issued for some years and, in the last few years, there've been a few printed with red, gray and even multi-colored jackets. These all serve specific purposes—the red is designed for Mother's Day, for instance.

One Bible oddity that is selling increasingly well is the Bible in Basic English. This version contains a vocabulary of only 850 words and is pointed at people with a limited knowledge of the English language.

"Trick" Bibles are also part of the publishing picture. Some publishers print especially small editions, with small print, extra-thin paper and small overall size. You can get a Bible the size of a book of matches, for instance. And, for display purposes, there've been huge Bibles printed, one as large as a grand piano.

Far and away the most diversified house is the American Bible Society, which has editions in virtually every language on the globe. Figures for 1955 aren't available, but the Society says last year definitely beat '54, when it distributed more than nine million Bibles around the world.

In '55, it brought out a new illustrated version of the New Testament, selling for $2, which had a substantial circulation.

The Society maintains a special division circulating Bibles for the blind. They have a Braille Bible (20 volumes, $60), a Bible in the Moon System of raised letters rather than the raised dots of Braille (58 volumes, more than $200), and a set of the Bibles on record, read by Alexander Scourby (170 10-inch records, which take 85 hours to play).

In '55, the blind division added the first language to its library of Braille Bibles in foreign tongues—this latest being Tamil, a language of India.

As with ordinary Bibles, Bibles for the blind had a record circulation year in '55. In fact, each year of the last ten has seen a new mark set.

Publishers and booksellers see the steadily increasing sales of Bibles as due to two main factors. Perhaps most important is the rise in population, and the increase in family units. Most such units feel that one of the first purchases they should make is a Bible. The second factor, perhaps not so coldly statistical, is the resurgence of religious interest in the nation.

A third reason, which the publishers themselves do not mention, is the increase in advertising expenses. While the Bible of itself is pretty much self-advertising, the new versions and special editions as they come out need some help from the commercial world.

And so money spent on advertising new Bibles for sale, as well as ads to remind Christmas and Easter shoppers that a Bible makes a fine gift, ran to sums which booksellers feel set a record in '55.

One leading New York book store, according to its spokesman, "spent more on advertising Bibles in '55 than we spent in the last 10 years combined." This store also set up a special Bible department last year, which matches similar units featured by several of the leading New York department stores.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

'Job Opportunities' Offered by Illinois Civil Service Commission

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—State positions which pay from $145 to $785 a month are listed as "Job Opportunities" being currently offered by the Illinois State Civil Service Commission. The jobs are in more than 100 classifications and examination centers are at Chicago, Springfield and West Frankfort. Deadline date for applying for one of the "Job Opportunities" is June 30.

Examination of applicants began at Springfield and will continue through Saturday each week during the period of April 2-June 30. Examinations at Chicago and West Frankfort will be held on Saturdays. Other examinations will be held at Mt. Vernon on April 14, May 12 and June 9. Examinations for welfare posts will be held at Elgin, Dixon, East Moline, Galesburg and Manteno.

Jobs offered include state host-to-go about applying may be obtained by writing the Illinois Civil Service Commission, Army or Building, Springfield. Examination centers other than those listed above will be established as the need arises. Miss Maude Myers, Springfield, is president of the Commission. Other members are Saul Epton, Chicago, and Warren Moyer, Springfield.

Jobs offered include state hospital attendants, psychiatrists, clerks, bookkeepers, butchers, chemists, social workers, stenographers, typists, dentists, dietitians, teachers, fire guards, biologists, therapists, librarians, nurses, pathologists, pharmacists, neuropathologists, physicians, recreation aides, sanitary engineers, seamstresses, statisticians and telephone operators.

Best, or rather the highest paid, jobs are in the Welfare department. Pay as high as $9,420 a year or at the rate of $785 a month is offered for neuropathologists, psychiatrists and public health dentists; $720 a month for pathologists and pediatricians; $660 a month for biochemists, and physicians; $500 a month for nurse anesthetists; and $460 a month for psychologists and dietitians.

There were no contests for state offices among the Democrats in 1952. Stevenson was unopposed for President as were the candidates for state offices. This year however, there is the possibility of a write-in contest for resident and there are contests for the nominations for governor and lieutenant governor. These three could result in a heavier Democratic vote.

Contests for state representative could bring out heavy votes in numerous districts. There are offers also of $400 a month for music teachers, child guidance workers and dental hygienists, elementary and kindergarten teachers, a laundry foreman, research analysts, public health nurses, and social workers. Jobs as attendants at state hospitals are available at $145 a month but this includes room and board. Positions as business manager will pay from $300 to $460 a month.

Poem by Mrs. Roy Milburn Wins First In IFWC Contest

Mrs. Roy (Ora) Milburn, New Burnside, president of the 24th District, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, has won first place in the poetry section of the Literature contest of the Illinois Federation with her poem "Redemption."

Mrs. Milburn received word today that she would be presented with an award from the speakers' platform when the annual convention of club women is held in Chicago in May. She formerly lived in Harrisburg, at which time Mr. Milburn was employed by E. B. Webster in his drug store.

TWO CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

For a Well-Gloved Spring: Leather

Leather gloves get more trim and gay colors for spring this year. New six-button length (left) is the right glove for the sleeveless, short-sleeved or push-up sleeve. This is in a new shade of blue called Della Robbia. Shortie (upper left) has self-leather border trim in scalloped trapunto design. White kid shortie (upper right) has bracelet band of petal yellow as trim. White with red for casual wear (lower left) appear together in this shortie. Glove has a strip of hibiscus red leather at side and is saddle-stitched in red. Perfect shortie for formal wear (lower right) is this one in pink with scalloped edge. Pink seed pearls provide delicate trim. For formal afternoon wear, the four-button length glove (right) is popular this spring. This one is champagne tinted leather in pull-on style with contrasting brown silk embroidery. All leather gloves shown here are launderable.

O'Connor Predicts Enough Vaccine for Children to 15, Some for Older Groups

U. S. Health Service Expects Booming Production

Editor's Note: Polio vaccine production is picking up but there won't be enough to protect everyone during the coming polio season. Here is an up-to-date report on what parents can expect in the weeks and months ahead.

By MICHAEL J. O'NEILL
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U)—There should be enough polio vaccine by mid-summer to finish giving two shots to children under 15.

Before the polio season hits its peak late in the summer, there may be enough vaccine to start inoculating older children. And there is just a chance some vaccine may also be available for adults by the end of the year.

Pregnant women already are eligible.

This is the considered judgment of Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It is based on a study of official industry estimates.

The U. S. Public Health Service, which has stubbed its toe on supply predictions before, is somewhat less optimistic than O'Connor. But it too, privately, looks for a major upswing in production in the next few months.

Biggest reason for optimism is the booming production of the Eli Lilly Co. in Indianapolis. This firm has turned out nearly 70 per cent of all the vaccine produced so far—more than double the combined output of five other manufacturers.

1956 Vaccine Outlook
By June 30, Lilly says its 1956 output will hit a record 60 million shots—enough to give two doses to 30 million children. In the last six months of the year, it plans to turn out another 40 million shots.

Figuring vaccine output is an uncertain business at best. But if the industry estimates hold up, this is the outlook for 1956:

Vaccine output (first six months) 70 million doses;
Possible number of vaccinations (two shots each) 35 million;

Vaccine output (total 1956) 166 million doses;

Possible number of vaccinations (two shots each) 83 million.

There are 48 million children under age 15. O'Connor estimated that 10 million in the 0-through-14 age group already have received two shots. He believes another 5 million have received only one.

That leaves roughly 33 million children in the top priority ages who still need two shots and 5 million who need only the second shot—a maximum of 71 million shots.

However, experience has shown that about 25 per cent of the children eligible for shots fail to get them because of parental neglect, opposition to the vaccine or some other reason. Because of this, it presumably will take only 45 or 50 million shots to wind up the 0-through-14 age group. On the basis of the industry estimates, there should be enough vaccine this summer to do the job.

Demand is Zooming

Vaccine has been released relatively slowly in the first three months this year. But a sharp upswing is expected in the second quarter—especially June—when Lilly expects tests on a huge backlog to be completed and Parke Davis' production should pick up.

In December, the government reported 45 per cent of the vaccine was not being used as quickly as it was released. But demand is zooming again now with the approach of the polio season.

The Health Service said about 80 per cent of the vaccine now is being used almost immediately. There are shortages in most areas. There are a lot of isolated complaints that vaccine appears to be available in some areas and not in others. The answer seems to be that each state—and often each community—is running its own distribution system in its own way.

Some states are buying up all the vaccine allocated to them and making it available free of charge. Some are letting most of their allotments go into regular commercial channels. All in all, about 60 per cent of all the vaccine is purchased by public funds and made available free.

The federal government is making more than 30 million dollars available to the states to buy free vaccine. Some states and local communities also are putting up some of their own money.

In 11 states all this free vaccine is distributed in public clinics. In 6 states the free shots are distributed by private physicians who may charge for the injection but not the vaccine. In the other states, some free vaccine is distributed in both ways.

Not Much Chiseling

All of this means there are infinite variations in the availability of vaccine in any given area at any given time. Where there are large-scale inoculation programs, the vaccine is used up quickly. The reason: The children are, in a sense, a captive audience. Where most of the vaccine goes into regular commercial channels, the shots move more slowly.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has completed its free school vaccination program in all but a few isolated areas. This was only for children in lower grades of school.

Government investigators have checked nearly 10,000 druggists, physicians, hospitals, health departments and private citizens for possible chiseling.

They report they have found a few cases in which vaccine has gone to children who had no priority and in which the government's allocation system was violated. They also found some vaccine which had been wasted.

By and large, however, they said there seem to be no problems of black marketing, price gouging, or illegal distribution.

GI Hobbyists Make Use of Souvenirs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—The "do-it-yourself" hobby craze is just as big with servicemen as civilians, but the G.I.'s and their families often have an advantage through the use of souvenirs they have collected while on overseas duty.

Pebbles from Mediterranean beaches, stones from Alpine trails, baggage labels from Japanese hotels, theater ticket stubs, a piece of rubble from Hitler's Berlin bunker—all can be used as raw materials for various arts and crafts.

The G.I.'s, always inveterate souvenir hunters now are converting their mementoes into cuff links, earrings, belt buckles, key tags, book marks and paperweights. The Army has set up Special Service Craft Shops on many posts to help G.I. hobbyists convert their souvenirs into useful articles.

Open Blue Cross, Shield Plans For Individuals

Individuals will be given their first chance to enroll in the Chicago Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans during a special Plan-wide enrollment to be held through April 25, according to an announcement made today by E. M. Burrows, manager of the Carbondale office of these two plans.

During this special enrollment everyone who is under 65 years of age and in good health may join on an individual or non-group basis . . . regardless of where they work. At the same time enrollments will be held in over 16,000 firms which now sponsor Blue Cross or Blue Shield Plans.

This Plan-wide enrollment and the offering of individual membership is part of a celebration honoring the crossing of the 50 million membership mark by Blue Cross nationally . . . of whom 2 1/4 million people are enrolled in this Blue Cross Plan.

"We believe this special offer of individual membership will be very welcome news to the countless thousands of people who have asked to join our Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans . . . who have never been able to do so before. You see, Blue Cross and Blue Shield were both started as group plans," Mr. Burrows explained, "where firms or organizations sponsored enrollments and made it possible for people to pay dues by payroll deduction."

"Under this new non-group program which is now being offered . . . anyone may join throughout the entire area served by these plans in Illinois . . . who is under 65 years old and in good health. A wife or husband under 65 and unmarried children under 19 years old also may be included under family membership. However, this special individual enrollment will be open for a limited time only, through April 25th.

"It still pays to join through a group if you can," Mr. Burrows said, "since group dues are somewhat lower and group plan benefits are equal in all instances to the benefits of the non-group plan. There also are no age or good health requirements for those joining through groups."

Literature describing the new benefits of the non-group plan for individuals may be secured from the Plan's Carbondale offices at 211 1/2 S. Illinois St. Many hospitals throughout the state are likewise cooperating in this enrollment by making literature containing applications available in their lobbies.

Speedy Supply
A single U. S. Army quartermaster subsistence supply company of 190 men can receive, break down, and issue all food items required for approximately 100,000 soldiers.

JUDGE SID M. WARD SEEKS BIG VOTE FOR GOVERNOR IN COUNTY

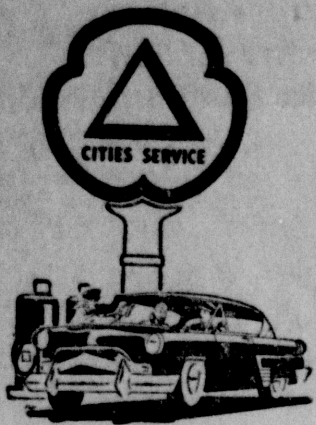

Judge Sid M. Ward of Benton visited Saline County this week in an effort to get a big vote in his campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor. He said: "The only way for Southern Illinois to get any recognition from Springfield and Washington is to give a big vote to the only Southern Illinois candidate for Governor."

The Benton attorney declared: "I am the Southern Illinois candidate. Downstate has been neglected for 20 years to build up political machines in Chicago. Now is the time to show Chicago that we mean business." Ward advocates repeal of civil service laws, more cooperation between sheriffs and state police.
